OSCAR CONTENDER

The Pritzker-winning Brazilian architect Oscar Niemeyer (1907–2012) typically designed big—consider the U.N. headquarters and most of Brasilia—but also thought small. This circa-1970 rocking chaise is made of laminated wood, steel, and leather (33¾" h. x 5'7" w. x 22" d.). $16,900, Gustavo Olivieri, 74 Montauk Hwy., East Hampton, 631-537-2811, gustavoolivieri.com.

JOIN THE CLUB

American furniture designer Milo Baughman (1923–2003) specialized in decidedly restrained, often rectilinear pieces, such as these chrome-framed upholstered club chairs that date from the 1960s (25" h. x 26½" w. x 28½" d.). $5,800 for the pair, John Salibello, 2309 Montauk Hwy., Bridgehampton, 631-537-1484, johnsalibello.com.

FEELING BLUE

Vibrant colors combined with sensuous shapes were hallmarks of the late furniture designer Adrian Pearsall (1925–2011), who designed this pair of wood-frame lounge chairs in the mid-1960s (28" h. x 30" w. x 32" d.). $3,800 for the pair, R. E. Steele, 74 Montauk Hwy., East Hampton, 631-324-7812, resteeleantiq@aol.com.

SLING SHOTS

Bruce Hannah and Andrew Morrison were especially prolific in the early 1970s, when the design duo created this pair of sling chairs (25½" h. x 29" w. x 33½" d.), still clad in their original upholstery. $4,800 for the pair, Stellar Union, 25 North Sea Rd., Southampton, 631-204-0315, stellarunion.com.

LA DOLCE VITA

Saporiti Italia's stainless-steel furniture from the early 1970s is the ultimate pairing of style and comfort. This chair (35" h. x 31" w. x 34" d.) and ottoman features new leather upholstery with contrast piping. $7,500, Le Lampade, 75 Washington St., Sag Harbor, 631-899-4140, info@lelampade.com. —DAVID MASELLO
